The first race I finished was the world's longest marathon, the Long Distance Relay in Berlin, Germany. I came home with my time of 3 hours 42 minutes, just behind the fastest marathoner in the world, David Zabriskie of the UK! That is crazy, right? It's also exactly where I started; I've never won an Ironman Worlds event at this point.. For those of you who don't know what Ironman World is, it's basically the world's largest running competition. The 10K is a four-mile race, the half marathon is 14.2 miles, the 25K is 28.5 miles, and the 10K is a 16.1-mile race. For the last five years, Ironman World has provided a $100,000 prize pool (worth $120,000 by the way) for all the best men and women in the world to run races in the most incredible and breathtaking environments..
